Maryland Community Services Locator (MDCSL)
Now Contains 9,000 Maryland Programs

The Maryland Community Services Locator website (www.mdcsl.org) is a statewide interactive online directory developed to assist professionals and community members in locating community services, including substance abuse treatment, housing, job readiness/employment programs and many others. The locator includes a wide range of criminal justice, social service and health programs. It allows users to get organizational contact information and other details, map resources by location, and get instant directions to local programs. Since its launch in 2008 and completion of the statewide expansion in 2009, this website has expanded to include approximately 9,000 services and programs that are verified annually for accuracy by MDCSL staff.

Additionally, the MDCSL has expanded to include advanced search options in a number of service areas including adult education, family assistance, food assistance, HIV/AIDS testing sites, as well as substance abuse, housing, job, victim services. The advanced search options allow you to narrow down your search for a particular program according to the specific services offered, population served, payment options and other special services.

Visit the MDCSL website at: <http://www.mdcsl.org>. For more information or for free promotional materials, contact CESAR by email at mdcsl@umd.edu, phone (301-405-9796), or visit the website. The MDCSL is funded by the Governor's Office of Crime Control and Prevention under grant number BJAG-2011-0007.
